THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL.

NEW YORK March 16—Ex Gov Fullerton ap peared in the Beecher case again this morning and announced that he has entirely recovered from his recent indisposition

Reuben R. Ropes

Was the first witness He testified that Moulton in 1873 told him in reply to a question that the Woodhull scandal was a d——d infernal lie Ropes was not cross-examined.

H. Davis

Testified that in November 1872, Moulton assured him in reply to his questions that there was not a word of truth in the stories about Beecher Davis was not cross-examined

Jno. W. Mason,

The next witness was about to relate a conversation with Moulton on produce exchange when Fuller ton objected to further questions as Moulton had been examined in regard to the witness The ob jection was sustained and the witness stepped down

Ed. M. Bidem

Testified that once when he asked Moulton if there was any truth in the Woodhull publication he said "I am as good a friend of Beecher as you are and I will answer questions at the proper time." On another occasion he denied emphatically that there was any truth in the story

Cross-examined—Witness said he did not remem ber that Moulton said if the story wasn't true it was infamous

Wm. B. Barbour,

Testified to Moulton telling him there was no truth in the story about Beecher.

As the next witness was called, Beach rose and said it wasn't necessary to call so many witnesses as Moulton did not deny having used these expres sions and thought this line of examination was improper

Judge Neilson suggested that Shearman should limit the number of witnesses which he promised to do

Chas. H. Codwell

Testified to Moulton's denials to himself of the of the stories about Beecher.

Thomas M. Cook,

A reporter of the Sun, testified to meeting Tilton frequently at Mrs. Woodhull's in 1871 and their apparent intimate friendship relating particulars numerous interviews with Tilton at Woodhull's house. Witness then related an interview with Woodhull when she urged him to write up the Beecher scandal. He replied if he should attempt write up the story on the representation of a third party he would involve the Sun in a flood of libel suits. She said there was no need to take it on a third party, that Tilton had all the letters and papers connected with it. She said it would take the roof off Plymouth church shake Brooklyn to its foundation and revolutionize modern society. The daily paper would be glad to get hold of such a story Witness refused to have anything to do with it. He was even asked and urged by thinks by Woodhull and Tilton, to write the story for Wood hull & Claflin's Weekly Witness told Tilton he might take possession of the Golden Age, but could not hazard his reputation in the Weekly. Witness was to write local sensations for these papers, and his salary was to be paid out of both

Cross-examined—Witness testified that he now lived in Detroit, where he was engaged in winding up the business affairs of the paper he bought there. He was never discharged from the Sun for writing libellous articles. Witness was questioned in regard to his employments since 1860 and testified that he had taught school sold books was special agent of the postoffice department inspector of customs in the New York custom house. After wards he was reporter for the Sun. He corresponded with Shearman. He saw Shearman here. He re turned to Detroit since and was paid one hundred dollars. His bill was about $30 fare $25 balance for incidentals. Court here took a recess.

After recess Cook continued his testimony con cerning the payment to him of money for the ex penses of his trip The money was paid in the sum of $100 He denied having written the McCue libel in the Sun and said his discharge was in nowise connected with this article He got acquainted with Mrs Woodhull at the request of Mr Dana and Mr Cummings. He saw Tilton there almost daily up to the time of the Steinway Hall meeting. Sometimes he would go to the inner room and sometimes converse with the ladies, and with Col Blood and Miss Claflin sometimes. He could swear that Tilton was present at an interview after the Steinway Hall meeting, in Mrs. Woodhull's office He didn't remember taking anyone with him to Mrs Woodhull's. He had an interview with Mrs. Woodhull in Detroit two weeks ago, after Shear man had written him. He had interviews with Tracy, and Mrs. Hill while in New York before Mr Woodhull sent for him in Detroit The re direct examination developed nothing.

John Gallagher,

Livery stable keeper of Brooklyn testified that he has known Tilton a long time. Once took him to Coney Island in the last part of summer of '71 with a lady On his arrival there he left the carriage to go and bathe. They gave witness their watches and were gone about an hour, Witness didn't see them bathe He then drove them to Tilton's house The lady re mained in the carriage while Tilton was in the house. When he returned he drove them to Rem sen street, between Hicks and River. This was at dark. He then went home and at 12 o'clock took them in a close carriage to New York. Thirty eighth street. Tilton got out and went in the house with the lady. Afterwards he thought he drove Tilton home. Witness examined a photograph of Mrs Woodhull and thought this was the lady

Cross examination waved

Samuel P. Halliday,

Assistant pastor was the next witness He had as sisted Beecher five years. His acquaintance with Tilton was very limited On the day of the publi cation of the Woodhull scandal Beecher first spoke of it to him. A meeting of the members of the church was called He had met Mrs Moulton but was not intimate with her She, on the occasion of a pastoral visit, said she didn't know why her name was connected with the scandal. Beecher was her pastor and she believed in him

The prosecution objected to questions with re gard to the action of Plymouth Church in the mat ter and a series of arguments ensued

The Judge ruled that the defense might bring in to-morrow morning the church records, show ing the contemplated action of the church but that evidence of it could not be introduced by conver sations.

Protest against the Sutro Royalty

Senators Sargent and Jones called on the Com missioner of the General Land Office to-day and made a strong verbal protest and outlined points of written argument which they intend to file within a few days against Sutro's application to have his tunnel royalty clause inserted in patents for all mines in the districts near the Comstock lode They stated that they would produce a copy of Sutro's original map showing his own declination of the Comstock lode and argued that, as the ques tion of what constitutes the lode was necessarily in mere matter of opinion the burden of proof must in any event be thrown on Sutro to establish af firmatively that any particular mine is in that lode and subject to the royalty provision

A Washington Opinion of Ex-Gov. Woods.

The fight against Governor Axtell of Utah was originated and has been promoted by ex Governor Woods in the hope of being reinstated Woods is also making efforts to obtain either the superinten dency of the San Francisco mint or some foreign mission but is regarded as an impecunious place hunter without chances of success

New Arms for California Militia.

Sargent to-day had an interview with Gen Ben nett chief of ordnance as to the issue of the new arms for the militia of California, made possible under the late law authorizing States being credited with such arms as were faithfully disposed of dur ing the war of the rebellion He told Bennett that a portion of them were burned in the Sacramento armory, and represented that California had a claim to the new issue. Bennett said he would in a few days write to the Governor of California re citing the law and requesting detailed information of what was done with the old arms. If this infor mation is promptly furnished before the appropria tion is exhausted by other States having similar claims California will get a new supply without difficulty

A New Judge for Utah—Reasons for the Removal of McKean.

The nomination of ex Congressman Parker of Missouri, to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah involves the removal of Judge J B Mc Kean but does not indicate any change in the policy of the administration regarding the question of polygamy His removal and that of the present register of the land office in Salt Lake are caused by what the President deems unethical and extreme conduct on the part of these officers as evidenced by their violent attacks on Governor Axtell and certain Senators who recommended his appoint ment and by several acts of McKean which are considered ill advised tyrannical and in excess of his powers as Judge

Civil Service Rules Abolished in the Treasury Department.

Mr Lyman Chief of the Civil Service Board of the Treasury Department reported to the Secretary of the Treasury to day that in accordance with in structions all sub boards have been abolished

The Department of Justice Overhauled—Excessive Expenditures in Fees, etc

The report of the House committee on expendi tures of the department of justice show that G 1 Ferry of Ohio received $10,000 as counsel against the Union Pacific railroad under an act of Congress The committee believed that, under Congress in authorizing the employment of special counsel ought always to prescribe some limitation to the amount to be paid for such service The committee say In the case of North Carolina, it was in evi dence, and we think it is undeniable as to that district, and doubtless as to others that much of the amount paid to the commissioners was for war rants issued and hearings upon warrants in frivolous cases The controlling motive with many of these commissioners is no doubt, to make business for the purpose of getting fees and this conduct on the part of these commissioners not on ly enhances their fees and makes a charge on the government but likewise creates an additional charge and a much heavier one in the arrest of prisoners and cost of keeping and transportation, and in fees to deputy marshals and mileage With district attorneys notably has this been the case in the western district of Arkansas and in Western North Carolina, and perhaps in other districts where these large expenditures have been made in payment of fees to commissioners. The attention of the respective judges of the several districts named, and of the judiciary of the country now thus publicly called to these facts induces your com mittee to hope the recurrence of these abuses in the future may be prevented Hereafter however with the guards and restraints imposed by the new law, much, if not all fraud can and ought to be checked. The committee is confident as touching these expenditures that if this law shall be faith fully administered and strictly carried out, there can be no fraud with the collusion of judges clerks marshals and district attorneys

SENATE—EARLY SESSION.

WASHINGTON March 16—The Vice President laid before the Senate the report of the commissioners of agriculture for 1874 and on motion it was ordered that 1 250 additional copies be printed for the use of the Senate.

The consideration of the resolution for the admis sion of Pinchback was resumed, and Alcorn ad dressed the Senate.

Edmunds spoke at length against the admission of Pinchback and denied the legality of the legis lature which elected him

McDonald says it was not in the power of a State nor a Senate to settle the question of the legal ex istence of the body choosing a senator This case must be determined upon its merits and the law governing it was plain enough It was well known that if it had not been for interference of the fed eral judge the persons composing the legislature which elected Pinchback would never have been in a position to elect any one. He denied that there was any prima facie case on which Pinchback could be admitted

Howe next proceeded to address the Senate in favor of the admission of Pinchback and of the legality of the legislature which elected him but before the end of his speech yielded for executive session after which the Senate adjourned till 7 30 P M

On reassembling Howe finished his speech and Logan followed on the same side and predicted that murder crime and confusion would be the result in Louisiana if the Senate refused the seat to Pinch back

At 9 15 Morton rose to close the debate He said it was manifest that the Democrats had made this a party question He argued that every vote against Pinchback would be in effect to demoralize the Republican party in Louisiana, disturb the peace of the State and produce bloodshed. If he is re jected it would be a declaration that he was not elected by the Legislature of the State and calling upon the President to recognize it if the Senate re fused to recognize the Kellogg government Now what ground would the President have to stand upon The Democrats well understood this and the same trap into which Republicans were walk ing.

The Papal Allocution.

LONDON March 16—A special from Rome gives the following as the text of the Allocution of the Pope delivered at the Consistory in the Vatican yes terday

Recognizing in part our care in these sad times to increase your noble order of distinguished men to assist in the protection of the universal church and having determined to discharge this duty we wished to perform it according to solemn and an cient rites as the dignity of the church demands But the times are opposed to our intention The oppression which we suffer is such that we have not even the freedom of bewailing the afflictions of the church No wonder that those differing from the church by hereditary errors hate the church and strive to attain this end Unfortunately and inev itably, where the supreme cathedral of trouble was placed by divine dispensation, children of the faith have become enemies of the church and plot for its destruction grieving our heart. Hence have come the deplorable injuries to the liberties possessions and ministers of the church which we witness and are powerless to resist Hence have come the greatest evils to the souls of men and human soci ety to the corruption of youth which will propa gate existing evils to future generations The edu cational institutes have been withdrawn from the watchfulness of the church, and in youth which should be the seed time of virtues, vices are rooted in schools subject to civil power There is education without faith and without reli gion According to a baneful worldly wisdom the education of the priesthood even is hampered by arbitrary rules so that it is difficult to regulate the course of their duties and studies. The army con scription laws take effect in the ranks of the clergy and life for clericals are encouraged con unas cious y to resist their bishops and are protected against the leaders of episcopal authority of preach ing the word The publication of our discourses is prohibited by civil power Penal laws are enacted against publishing the acts of the Apostolic See. The voice of the supreme master the teacher of truth is silenced and the rights of a faithful peo ple are violated Let those who subject the church to slavery bear in mind that they in voke on themselves the divine wrath of the master and heavier tyranny. Lately in a foreign country writings were divulged from foreign the Vatican decrees the object was to effect the violation of the liberty of your senate in the selection of our suc cessor by threats of civil interference. These acts point exclusively at our election but merciful God ruling the church provident ally ordained that admirable declarations of the German Em pire who refuted in their noble declarations the er roneous doctrines We give fullest praise before the Catholic world to did bishops We approve their declarations and their protest as being wor thy of the virtue dignity and religion of bishops We confirm them in their apostolic authority pray ing divine clemency to dissipate the designs of our enemies and to end these evil days. Remembering that no wisdom or prudence can prevail against the Lord let us offer sacrifices in humility and fervent prayers Our God is most merciful in severe against the evil [illegible] Him Therefore let us turn our hearts [illegible] Him praying for consolation and deliverance He is powerful to defend us from our enemies pre paring us for the here after [illegible] Gregory the Great says in these tribulations greater stabi lity greater co-operation greater valor in battle are required of laborers We are resolved venerable brethren to add to the senate of the holy Roman Church for the glory of God and the utility of the Church six more dignitaries men whose names are known to you who have shown themselves worthy of the high honor by the discharge of the episcopal functions with zeal fortitude prudence and learning or by bearing cruel persecution with courage and constancy We intend to create five other Cardinals If in the dispensation of God this Holy See should become vacant before their names are divulged they will be declared in a ecclesiastical [illegible] our will We decree by apos tolic authority that the [illegible] right of action on or passive participation in the act of choosing our successor The five Cardinals reserved in Petto are as follows Monsigneurs Pacca Vitelleschi, Rand Nino Limione and Antici Mattei

Duleerg a Liberal Republi can was elected one vice president receiving the support of the Republican majority Dufaure min ister of justice stated that the government had not yet deliberated on the question of dissolution but his own opinion was that the assembly would dis solve in August and elections for a new chamber of deputies be ordered for autumn

Debate in the Prussian Diet

BERLIN, March 16.—In the lower house of the Prussian diet to day the debate opened on the first reading of the new ecclesiastical bill

Dr Falk minister of public worship in a speech explaining the necessity of such legislation on the relations of state and church dwelt especially on the fact that the Pope had authorized the Austrian bishops to obey laws similar to those denounced in Prussia He was not afraid of the encyclical but considered the matter serious and would not allow itself to be treated with scorn by the church.

Bismarck made a powerful speech in support of the bill. He said the maxim that more obedience was due to God than man certainly didn't mean that more obedience was due to a Pope controlled by Jesuits than to a King Government was doing its duty in protecting German freedom of mind against Rome The House resolved to discuss the bill in full sitting instead of referring it to a com mittee

THE SOUTHERN OREGON MINES.

From the Jacksonville Times of last Satur day we take the following items concerning the mines in the southern part of our State

Surveying claims is progressing at a rapid rate

William Bilger is engaged in getting out a ton of rock at Galice Creek, to be shipped to San Francisco for testing

We learn that from $2 to $5 a foot is being offered for claims on Galice Creek but nobody seems anxious to sell

Over 150 claims on various ledges in the county have already been recorded in the clerk's office Several claims upon which no tices have been posted are not recorded as yet A large number have also been recorded by the clerk of Josephine

Parties just from Galice Creek report matters in statu quo Improvements are still progress ing S Harkness is putting up a hotel and feed stable A sawmill is being erected near the ledges Comparatively few shafts have been sunk and those not to any great depth

Mr Scott who has just arrived from the mines, says he has traced the Galice Creek ledges as far as Cow Creek where a well de fined lead is developed The ledges all seem to come to a focus here, as the width of the new discovery is over a mile wide, interspersed with stratus of apparently different kinds of rock The leads can be traced no further Mr Scott brought several pounds of rock with him which will be tested in the mill of Brooks & Co on Wagner Creek

POLK COUNTY

MORE LAND AND BETTER CULTIVATION—INDEPENDENCE—MONMOUTH AND ITS COLLEGE—A VISIT TO NESMITH'S FARM—THE NESMITH AND LANG HORSES—THE VILLAGE OF DIXIE.

DIXIE, March 1[illegible], 1875

During the week the weather has been fa vorable for plowing, and all kinds of out door work Yesterday afternoon a strong cold north wind blew, followed by heavy showers of rain and hail and more or less snow during the night and this morning The signs of clearing more land extensive grubbing better plowing and improved cultivation are every where seen in Polk county

INDEPENDENCE

Is one of the principal shipping points on the Wallamet river for the county. There will be 10 000 bushels of wheat shipped from this place from the harvest of 1874 The increased production of wheat is seen in the number of new warehouses erected lately there to meet the wants of farmers The slow but steady growth of the town is obvious from the num ber of dwelling houses erected during the past year

MONMOUTH

Is distinguished as one of the educational cen ters of the country The Monmouth college ranks among the valuable and efficient insti tutions of learning in the State It is favora bly located for good health and beautiful scenery, and is surrounded by a rich extensive agricultural district that produces good crops and the best of wheat The college was built in the interest of the Christian church, but its management while decidedly Christian in spirit is non-sectarian in character, and its advantages open to all classes of the commu nity President Campbell ranks among the most efficient and valuable friends of advanced education in the State He is a thorough dis ciplinarian, very popular with the students and a general favorite wherever known He is ably sustained by a staff of competent pro fessors The college is attracting numerous families from different parts of the country for the purpose of securing a good education for their children The heads of these fami lies are generally farmers who have acquired an independence as the result of their indus try good management and legitimate econo my The majority of them have and are building good residences in Monmouth and in the immediate vicinity of the town

Mr J P Beeler is just completing his dwell ing house the site of which commands a view of 23 miles, that a prince might enjoy The sitting rooms parlor, and the rooms of the first floor are finished and furnished in a manner that reflects honor on the good judg ment and refined taste of the proprietor The bed rooms on the second floor will be com pleted this month and will be in harmony with the apartments already finished. The whole will cost about $6 000 Four other new residences will be built this summer of a sim ilar character

Mr J B V Butler's residence is an orna ment to the town and an elegant family home These and many other such private residences at Monmouth in Polk county and in the Wal lamet Valley show what intelligent indus trious and enterprising farmers can accom plish in acquiring ample means fine resi dences and comfortable homes

A VISIT TO COL J W NESMITH'S FARM

Is an object that I have desired to accomplish for some time. The distinguished place that the Colonel filled in the Senate of the United States, his position in the late House of Rep resentatives, and the fact that his farm is one of the largest and finest in Polk county make such a man and such a place attractive to visitors The idea of nominating such a man as Mr LaDow for Congress however excel lent a man otherwise, and passing by such a distinguished, honorable and experienced man in public affairs as Col Nesmith, as in the late State election, is a burlesque on cau cuses and conventions, and a specimen of the tricks of crafty politicians The only draw back to this visit was the fact that the Colonel was not at home being on his way from Washington; but his place is ably filled by Col T S Lang, who takes pleasure in show ing the farm and stock to visitors

The farm consists of 2 700 acres 700 of which are under cultivation, a large quantity is occupied as pasture for cattle horses sheep and hogs The Rickreal river runs through the entire farm which is of great value for stock and draining the flat lands There is ample timber on the farm for fencing and fire wood The fields are large, well laid out, highly cultivated and substantially and taste fully fenced the soil is rich and productive A dairy, with 60 milch cows, makes elegant butter for the Salem market An orchard of 25 acres produces choice fruit consisting of apples, pears plums cherries and quinces, as well as a large quantity of oats for feeding stock Col Nesmith is making commendable progress in introducing and raising fine stock of different kinds He has at present about 50 head of thoroughbred Berkshire hogs not surpassed in the State He purposes raising these extensively, which will be a valuable substitute for the large number of "scrub" and unprofitable hogs in Polk and other counties in the valley All his common hogs are being fattened for the butcher and cleared off the farm He has 200 head of good graded sheep, but they will give place, by and by, to the best thoroughbred stock He keeps up a good supply of excellent graded horses for farming purposes and brood mares for raising colts One of the important features of the farm is the importation of thoroughbred stud horses during the last year These horses will be in valuable to the State in improving the breed and raising the standard of farming family and trotting horses for which Oregon has been long distinguished

THE RIVIF STUD FARM

Owned jointly by Col J W Nesmith and Col T S Lang may be fairly considered one of the valuable institutions of the State and of the Wallamet valley in particular for breed ing valuable family, farm and trotting horses Among the number is the thoroughbred stud-horse

DELAWARE

He is a beautiful bay 15¾ hands high very gentle come of the best blood in the United States and distinguished as a fast trotter

WINTHROP KNOX

Is a fine horse 16 hands high 1 100 lbs weight rising four years old he is a son of the cele brated General Knox one of the fastest trotting horses that has ever appeared in the New England States

BLACK STRANGER

Is a grand son of the same 'General Knox' with all his best blood and most desirable qualities as a fast trotter

VULCAN KNOX

Is also a son of General Knox and forms a valuable portion of this stable he is rising four years old and will prove a valuable ac quisition to farmers and others that wish to raise stock that will prove profitable to them selves and advantageous to the State

All these horses were purchased by Col T S Lang one of the most experienced judges of thoroughbred horses in the New England States they will be under his constant super intendence The Colonel has made a first class mile track and out on the farm in front of the dwelling house, where these horses will soon go into training under the care of Mr A Gould, an experienced trainer

The office houses are extensive convenient and kept in excellent order The dwelling house is large commodious and most comfort able and the seat of generous hospitality Mrs Nesmith and the two daughters at home amply sustain the reputation of refined and accomplished ladies Mrs Colonel Lang her daughter and son who reside at Colonel Nes mith's at present are worthy of such a dis tinguished family Colonel Nesmith's two sons are models of industry All the depart ments of the farm are under the care of expe rienced and competent men, who know how work should be done and who see that it is well and profitably done

Some of the land is composed of adobe soil difficult to plow but very productive when properly cultivated A field of 32 acres occu pied 30 days in plowing last year, and very imperfect plowing at that yielded 32 bushels of wheat to the acre This year the same field was plowed in 12 days with one of T Cun ningham & Co's Garden City Sulky Plows and will most probably produce 40 bushels of wheat to the acre

THE TOWN OF DIXIE

Is a quiet little village having one store a few neat cottages and a good flouring mill owned by Morrison & Young, with a valuable water power of 25 feet taken from the Rickreal river in a Leffel wheel of 40 horse power

FARMING AND STOCK RAISING IN OREGON

ALBANY, March 13, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

DEAR SIR—The undersigned having lived for a number of years in old Ireland and be ing connected in various ways with farming as a profession would be happy through the medium of your valuable paper to instill into the minds of your many farming readers a few ideas which, in my opinion, are worth harboring and correct if possible some of the errors which are from time to time creeping into farming in Oregon, making it a mere drudgery and losing its name as a profession

In the first place the man, whoever he may be buying a farm, wants a suitable location, having easy access to both wood and water In no place will he find those necessaries of life in greater plenty than in the beautiful Wallamet valley I must say in connection with the valley that a more fertile and healthy valley is nowhere to be found and were it cultivated as we do things in the moth er country properly drained etc it would support its millions There is enough fruit raised in the Wallamet valley alone to supply the entire Pacific coast, and what is done with it? One third of the crop is consumed by hogs, one-third allowed to rot on the ground the remaining third picked but allowed to freeze and rot

I doubt not but the most of the farming community in Ireland have seen Oregon wheat A finer and more plump berry is not raised on God's fair earth What pains does the average Oregon farmer take in cultivating this noblest of all crops? Well I am sorry to say that had he not been aided by a genial climate and a productive soil the granaries of Oregon would not be overloaded The land, having been soaked in water during all of the winter season, is not in a suitable condition to be in differently plowed and sowed in the same manner, when such a condition could be remedied to a great extent by proper drainage. The main object to be obtained in plowing seems to be the quantity of ground turned over, no thought being given as to quality The grain is sown in a rough and tumble sort of a way and Nature throws some 20 to 40 bushels of No 1 wheat right into the farmer's granary How does he dispose of his straw? Does he load it and place it in the barn, or put it in a suitable stack? Oh, no sir, horrible to relate he deliberately burns it up and should the winter be any way severe, he leaves his cattle to perish for want whereas, if the farmer had saved and fed it out in proper quantities the stock would have been all right in the spring Other cereals are cared for in nearly the same manner by the average Oregon farmer

Now, as to stock, I will commence with the horse—man's best friend How is that noble animal cared for when compared with the mother country? There he is, as a rule kept in a warm, comfortable stable with bedding to his knees, plenty of hay or good straw and bran mashes with crushed oats never turned out until the fine weather comes late in spring or early in the summer Here it is altogether different He may have three feeds of oats per day when worked the farmer may make a few mesmeric move ments at him with the curry comb, but seldom, as the most of the horses have the mud fever as they term it; and altogether the poor ani mal is sadly cared for. A great many of the farmers here have the barbarous custom of turning their horses out after their day's work, to the biting blast of March All kinds of stock suffer badly in winter, especially when there should happen to be a few inches of snow Cows which are so well cared for in the British Isles, seem to be of no import here I know several farmers who have from 10 to 15 cows and the farmers cannot furnish butter for their own table or milk for their tea And why? The cows are not fed properly and the calves are allowed to suck them for an inde finite period.

But enough has been said about stock, as I am occupying so much space in your valuable paper and I would like to state before I close, that there is no country in the world in which practical farmers are so much needed to de velop a country whose agricultural resources are endless And this hum drum, rough and tumble system should be done away with as quick as possible Yours

THE TERRITORIES

The Cheyenne News has been sued for libel It may now be considered a metropolitan journal

A man named Bailey, at Fort Wallace feel ing the pressure of a rope about his throat, said rope being controlled by "vigilantes" has confessed to cattle stealing on a small scale

Potter the man that run the lottery busi ness into the ground in Omaha finding that the laws of Wyoming are favorable to gift schemes, has established his headquarters at Laramie

At Cheyenne, the other night, a man who was found encroaching upon the domestic rights of an absent husband, was caught and given a pre-angelic plumage of tar and feathers

A seven year old boy, named Touche, liv ing near Badito, Huerfano county, Colorado, was killed in a most singular manner the other day A rock weighing 48 pounds was blown across the river by a blast into a cor ral, striking the lad on the head and killing him instantly

Nathan Blackwell's crime—that of murder ing John Dalton weighed so heavily upon his conscience as to induce him to come into Trinidad the other day and surrender himself into custody of an officer He was arraigned before a justice of the peace but waived an examination and was held to bail in the sum of $5,000

An old miner has written a letter to the New York Sun, declaring that the only ore in the Black Hills is that kind of mica called emigrant gold, and that there is not enough of the real article to make the pens with which the correspondents who have written up the country, have done their writing with

If any conclusive evidence were wanting to prove that the political social and religious in fluence and power of the great Mormon proph et Brigham Young was fast dying out that evidence is furnished by the constancy per sistency and severity with which the Salt Lake Tribune pours hot shot into the Mormon abom ination Ten years ago no man and no news paper would have dared to openly condemn Brigham and defy his authority But the world moves, and before another decade the Mormonism of the past will be known only in history

The average daily circulation of the Lon don Daily Telegraph during the past year has been 176 174. This, says the Telegraph is by far the largest return ever made for a similar period by any newspaper in the entire history of journalism

The editor of the late La Grande Times is a ruler of Union county, and the editor of the late Baker City Journal has gone to work in the mines.

The Pendleton Tribune has closed its first volume and will rest for a week, expecting to come out again when the flowers bloom, in better shape than ever

We see by a local paper that S B McCord, with other gentlemen, propose to establish a foundry and machine shop at Baker City dur ing the coming summer

The ferry boat at Davidson's ferry, on the Wallamet, near Butteville, was carried away by floating ice, but a new boat has been put on and is now in working order.

Mr. Pressly, formerly of Salem, has proved the navigability of Rogue river by making two trips from Grant's Pass to the newly dis covered silver ledge below Galice creek.

About a week ago we published an account of the accidental shooting of a man named Dimick at Grant's pass, Jackson county We now learn that he afterwards died of his in juries

At a cattle sale near Baker City last week the prices paid for stock ranged from $5 62 for yearlings to $27 for milch cows Two-year olds brought from $10 to $11, and three-year olds from $13 to $15

Several cattle merchants from California are buying in Lake county at present. Cattle are bringing better prices now than they have been for some time Four cents a pound is the price received

A militia company has been organized at Marshfield, Coos county and the following officers elected Morton Tower, captain, T G Owen, first lieutenant, and Wm Saunders, second lieutenant

The Coos Bay Record says: "Another in dustry, in a small way, but which ought to support comfortably the families of a few me chanical geniuses in this county, is the mak ing of myrtle wood canes"

The vessel at North Bend has all her frames in place and the stern post in place The keel son is in, and only the cants remain to be put in to have her completely ribbed The work is progressing very rapidly.

On Monday afternoon the coroner of Marion county received a dispatch from Gervais re questing him to go to that place and examine into the facts concerning the death of a man who had died suddenly near that place on the day named

The Baker City Democrat of March 10th says "All nature has put on the pleasant garb of spring The snow is fast disappearing from the hills and mountains which surround us, and in a very short time we may expect to see our valley and adjacent foot hills looking beautifully green, dotted with early spring flowers"

A candle that was left burning in the house of Mr Despain at Pendleton, one night last week, burned down after the folks had re tired and set the house on fire, and when Mr. Despain jumped out of bed the flame was run ning up the wall of the house very rapidly. By dint of hard work he finally succeeded in putting out the fire, but he burned his hands and otherwise injured himself so seriously that he has been confined to his room ever since Josephine Grange of P of H., was organ ized Jan 8 1875, by Hon D S. K. Buick, at Vannoy's Ferry, on Rogue river, and has the following officers Joseph Pollack, M, B F. Sloan O; A. The Salem Record says; "Gen Coffin, presi dent of the State Manufacturing Company, in forms us that the company will commence operations in a few days by stocking the tan yard at the penitentiary and running the same to its fullest capacity. Also, the company has procured machinery, which will be here by the 1st of April, to be used in the manufacture of boots and shoes which business will be carried on extensively, and over one hundred pairs can be turned out daily The company has a contract with the State for convict labor at 50 cents per day of ten hours' work, the use of the water power, shafting, buildings and steam boiler, free.

A letter from Butte Disappointment, Lane county, informs us that on Friday of last week while Mr. A. D. Hyland of that vicinity, with some of his employes, were engaged in catch ing some loose horses, a shot gun, which had been stood against the fence of the corral, was by some means thrown down and discharged The entire contents of the gun struck a young man named G. B. Lewis in the left thigh, mangling the flesh and shattering the bone in a terrible manner A physician was sent for and went to the wounded man, but could not save him. Mr Lewis lingered in much pain until Sunday night and died He was nine teen years old, and had many warm friends in the neighborhood who esteemed him highly, and who will grieve at his early and sudden death

LONG TOM LETTER

LONG TOM, March 13, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Long Tom is at present all life, the spring has come at last with its warm sunshine, mixed with gentle showers, which is causing the grass and early sown grain to grow finely As the snow staid with us a long time, most of the farmers fed away nearly all their grain and hay and, they are glad to see the grass growing Stock that is reduced in flesh and turned out at this season of the year to browse for a living, will be fortunate if they survive the cold rains which are yet expected The loss of stock in this vicinity has been com paratively light so far

Ever since the first appearance of the sun after the great storm had left us, the farmers have been putting in all the time diligently in preparing the ground for their spring crops In a great deal of grain was sown during the fine spell in February most of which is up and looking well Fall sown grain was in jured very little, if any by the freeze as the snow was sufficiently deep to protect it

Great excitement prevails over the various discoveries of gold and other minerals that are reported to have been made in different parts of the State and Long Tom is not going to be behind in this respect. Joel May has made a discovery of quartz within 15 miles of Junc tion City, which old miners pronounce good and there are fair prospects of a ledge being found near by Numbers of prospectors are out I will advise you of other discoveries if any be made

The grangers in that section are going on with their work and among other things which might be noticed, is an act of charity in which Union Grange No 47 raised $35, for the Kansas sufferers, which has duly been forwarded

A WONDERFUL VALENTINE —A young lady of this city received on Saturday a box by Express She found in it a beef's heart pierced with a golden arrow of ele gant manufacture, set with jewels, and estimated to be worth at least seventy-five dollars It is probably intended to be used either as a neckpin or as an ornament for the hair There was not the least intima tion who is the giver, nor can the lady or her family imagine who sent it For the donor of so magnificent a gift he shows a strange taste in sending such a remarka ble valentine to a lady A pet dog had the heart for his dinner but what to do with the pin the lady can hardly deter mine The gift cannot be intended for an insult, and is probably the result of some odd conceit.—Troy Press

THE COMPROMISE ABOUT COMPLETED.

In the dispatches we publish this morning we give our readers the result of the Louisiana arbitration. The whole country stands still and waits to see the end of all the troubles which the violence of party strife has brought upon that State. So involved in confusion are the facts, and so great the difficulty of arriving at any conclusions of fact that may be relied upon with confidence, that the general feeling now is, not that the investigation should be pushed on to the highest approximation to the exact truth, but rather that upon some general basis a settlement should be reached which would give peace and repose to the weary people, and open the way for a fair expression of, and ready submission to, the popular will at the next general election. Any peace that does not have the effect of permanently impairing the security of the people in their own rights as freemen and citizens, is to be preferred to the reign of anarchy and violence that have prevailed in Louisiana for two years past. It is possible there may be a special session of the Legislature as soon as the compromise is completed in all its details. The complexion of one branch of that body will be entirely changed, and Governor Kellogg would not favor a special session on that account; but it appears to be the understanding that such a session will be called. The Legislature which was organized by the military adjourned without doing anything worthy of mention, unless the election of Mr. Pinchback as Senator may be considered an exception. It is generally admitted that some legislation is needed, and if there appears a reasonable prospect that the public business can be taken hold of by the reorganized Legislature, in harmony with the reorganized Governor, and pushed forward honestly and with an eye to the public wants, there will be a general demand from all parties for a session. Especially will this be the case if the Senate refuse to admit Pinchback, thus causing a vacancy in Louisiana's representation in that body.

Governor Kellogg came out well in the compromise. He is to be definitely recognized—confirmed, we might appropriately term it—as Governor, whereas his supporters have scarcely claimed that he was duly elected. He has been kept in possession of the office hitherto mainly on the ground that he would have been elected if the voters had had a fair chance. And by the compromise this sort of title to the first office of the State ripens into a lawful tenure. Kellogg is in luck. But so are the people, who are to have peace and quietness instead of violence and disorder.

From different sections of this valley reports reach us that the farmers are busy preparing for their spring crops. The fall-sown grain which in some counties was in a great measure destroyed by the freeze, has been or will be replaced by another planting, so that the acreage to harvest will be but little less than it would have been with our usual mild winter.

With a spring and summer as favorable as we ordinarily have, we may expect a reasonably abundant havest and full as good a year is ahead of our people as the one which they have just passed has been. Our country grows slowly, but a knowledge of her resources is beginning to be more widely diffused year by year, while cold winters and dull times, grasshoppers and chinch bug plagues are causing people of other States to turn their thoughts to this land of the far West as a place that is generally free from these disadvantages. True, we sometimes have very dull times in Oregon, and we can always hear murmurs from some people of nearly all classes, but because A, or B, either through misfortune or mismanagement has fallen behind in the race for wealth, it is no reason to say that "bankruptcy is staring the whole community in the face." Never has been and perhaps never will be the time when Oregon will have to call on the outside world for food or clothing for her poor, as our climate and resources assure us ever a bountiful supply of these necessaries. But to barely live is not the aim of our people who would build up a great State; they want to see more evidences of growth and prosperity, even though they come at the expense of some venture and speculation not of the wild, reckless kind, the spirit of which seizes the San Franciscans in the shape of a stock mania, and while it enriches a few, makes thousands poorer than before, but that sounder spirit of business foresight and tact which sees the materials for manufactories, ship building, and other important enterprises in our mines and forests, and are willing to risk the chances when the probabilities turn the scale in favor of a successful result.

Joseph Gale, of Eagle Creek, Baker county, who says he came to this valley in 1838, and resided here for ten years, becoming thoroughly conversant with the language of the several Indian tribes, writes a letter to the Baker City Democrat concerning the proper pronunciation of our river, in which he says he has heard the name pronounced thousands of times, and every tribe with which he was acquainted "pronounced it invariably alike, Wallamet." He is, therefore, another witness as to the truth of the "Wal" theory.

We are afraid our correspondent "Palladine" has received his ideas of Oregon farming and stockraising from observations among farmers who are a good deal below the Oregon average. There is certainly much room for improvement among our farmers in methods and in farm economy; but the picture drawn by our correspondent is too heavily shaded for an average Oregon farmer.

Thomas Mann, of Portland, has been awarded the brick work on the capitol building by the commissioners.

THE HAWAIIAN TREATY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—At the request of Senator Jones, of Nevada, the Hon. David A. Wells has given the following opinion respecting the bearing of the proposed reciprocity treaty with the Sandwich Islands upon the revenues and commerce of the country. Mr. Wells having investigated the subject as Commissioner of the Revenue when the treaty was before proposed in 1867:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23, 1875.

SIR: In response to your request for my opinion respecting the proposed treaty of reciprocity with the Sandwich Islands, I would say that as United States Commissioner of Revenue I fully investigated this matter when it first came up in 1867-8, and have since seen no reason to change the opinion to which I was then led, namely, that it was not advantageous on any grounds for the United States to ratify the proposed treaty, and that it is not using unduly harsh language to characterize the whole scheme as a swindle and in the nature of a fraud to deplete the treasury. There is only one element of importance in the treaty, and that is sugar, the duties upon the importation of which article now constitute the largest and most reliable source of gold revenue under the customs. Sugar is also the only product of any importance that is or can be produced on the islands, and as the natural conditions are there eminently favorable the cost of production is low, and the business, under existing circumstances, reasonably profitable. But as the quantity of arable land on the islands is exceedingly limited, the annual product can never be sufficient to affect materially the price of sugar in the United States by greatly augmenting our present supply. There are now about 30 sugar plantations on the islands, owned by 25 firms or individuals, and it is estimated that there is yet sufficient good land unoccupied to admit of an increase of about an equal number of additional plantations. The present annual product of sugar from these 25 plantations is estimated at about 15,000 tons, or 30,000,000 pounds, most of which finds its market in the United States.

To admit now this product free of duty, with a tariff of two cents per pound continued on the hundreds of millions of pounds of other imported sugars, would be simply equivalent to voting a present annual subsidy out of the Treasury of the United States to some 25 pleasant American gentlemen, who have settled at the islands and exclusively own the plantations, of at least $600,000 gold per annum, which sum before the expiration of the seven years' term of the treaty is reasonably certain to be increased through the temptation of increased profits in the sugar business to at least $1,000,000 per annum, and in return for this the islands can offer the people of the United States nothing of any substantial value. The price of sugar to the American consumer will not be reduced. The wages of the native laborers will not be increased, as the supply of labor through the importation of Chinese is superabundant, while in respect to general trade it is sufficient to say, that the greater proportion of articles of foreign production which the islands need already come from the United States, and will continue so to come—treaty or no treaty—for the reason that this country constitutes alike their cheapest market for the supply of most commodities and the principal seat of the consumption of the sugar product.

But as the entire population of the islands is not in excess of 50,000, their entire trade any way, independent of sugar, is of not as much consequence as the trade of any one good flourishing county in any of the Western or Southern States possessing an equal population and a more fertile territory. And if annexation is the ultimate object aimed at through the treaty, the ratification of the treaty is the most effectual way of postponing annexation, for, with free trade with all the world in respect to all that the islands want to buy, and a market for substantially all they can sell guaranteed to them in the United States, under conditions that afford exceptional and enormous profits, what object can there be to the people of the islands in making themselves subject to heavy and manifold forms of taxation? I conclude, therefore, with the assertion that the proposed treaty with the Sandwich Islands is in no sense a treaty of reciprocity, but rather a shrewd scheme to deplete the treasury of the United States; that, if ratified it will take from the treasury, on an average, for the term of seven years, at least $1,000,000 per annum, and that for every dollar thus taken an equivalent dollar will have to be contributed by the people of the United States through some form of additional or continued taxation.

DAVID A. WELLS.

GOOD AUTHORITY.

Mr. Congressman Scudder, of New York certainly ought to be accepted by Republicans as good authority on political questions. Here is the Chicago Tribune's report of his speech on the Arkansas question:

Mr. Scudder, of New York, said the constitution permitted Federal interference under three conditions: When a Republican form of government is superseded, when domestic violence threatens the existence of the State, and in cases of invasion. Neither of these existed in Arkansas. He pointed to the large number of colored citizens holding offices in Arkansas as an evidence that the class in whose interest interference was asked was not ignored or disfranchised. All classes were at peace, and business, which always shrunk from disorder, was prosperous. The Government was going on smoothly, and the litigants were heard in the courts. The great writ of habeas corpus had not been suspended. It was not denied that individual disturbances occurred in Arkansas as in other States. Arkansas presented the appearance of a frontier State, in his opinion, no worse and no more dangerous. He denied that a constitution that was, as that of Arkansas had been termed, "a fraud and an abomination," could be imposed upon 70,000 whites and 30,000 colored people. The peace now in Arkansas came from

THE ACQUIESCENCE OF HER PEOPLE IN THE CONSTITUTION.

He referred to the frauds that were charged to have been perpetrated in Arkansas, and said it was humiliating to admit that frauds were committed by Republicans. He said Elisha Baxter was declared elected by the only tribunal on earth that had power to make the decision, and there it should have rested. Josh Brooks submitted his contest in the legislative body, where it was rejected, only nine voting in his favor. The action of the legislature stopped all proceedings elsewhere. The supreme court of Arkansas had denied the application of Brooks, declaring that no court in the State had power to set aside the decision of the legislature. Baxter had done many things that he ought not to have done. He found a partial solution of affairs in Arkansas in a letter accompanying the President's message, in which it is said there is not a man in the State that has as much political sense as an oyster. He contended that the notion of the low court in connection with the claim of Brooks to the seat was and commended the President for his action in reinstating Baxter. As to the constitution, he held its acceptance and the acquiescence of the people of Arkansas, who were primarily the power to decide upon it, made it a valid instrument. In conclusion, he held that Baxter had been by three tribunals declared the governor of Arkansas: First, by the legislature; second, by the supreme court of the State; and, third, by the President. The legislature was convened with the approval of the President. There were irregularities in connection with the constitutional convention, but they were not to be considered in the higher question whether the Federal Government should pass into the State to make its constitution. He asserted that the constitution was Republican in form, and that the Government under it was Republican in form.

THE PUBLIC LANDS OF OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Writing on the subject to the San Francisco Chronicle, Mr. J. M. Harrison, who speaks from personal knowledge of the matter, refutes a false statement which appeared in the paper to which he writes, as follows, his letter being dated San Francisco, March 7th:

In an article in to-day's Chronicle headed "A Trip through Oregon and Washington Territory," I saw an item that is calculated to convey an erroneous idea of that section of country. The article alluded to bears evidence of having been written in a candid manner, and upon the whole was correct, with the exception of the divergence referred to, caused, no doubt, by the writer's imperfect knowledge of the country. The item reads as follows: "The lands are heavily timbered, and it costs more to clear them and put them under cultivation than to buy the finest lands in Napa and Sonoma valleys." I have spent over two years of my time in examining this northern coast country, traveling through the country a good deal of the time on foot, where there were neither settlers nor roads, making a camp-fire to stop by when night overtook me, in order to see it all. From my observations I estimate that there is not over forty per cent. of it heavily timbered, while there is about forty per cent. of it that can be cleared at a small cost—say from $5 to 20 per acre. Even the waste bottom lands are hardly ever cleared at a cost of over $50 per acre; their great productiveness more than compensating for the extra labor in clearing. The settlers usually clear their land with their own labor, not necessitating the use of money to pay for it, the same as they would in buying lands already improved. In my rambles I often found places of several miles in extent, with little or no large timber growing on them—nothing but small growth, such as cherry, willow, hazel, etc.—and would occasionally come across nice smooth prairies of small extent, with nothing on them but grass. A large part of this northern coast country that was formerly heavily timbered has now hardly a tree growing, it having been within the past thirty years destroyed by fires. The first fires kill the timber, and the succeeding ones burn up the dry, deadened trees. Immediately on or near the coast the prevailing dampness prevents the fires running to any great extent.

Pole-Oak Firewood.

ALL PARTIES WHO DESIRE THIS SUPERIOR article of wood for next winter's use will please hand in their orders now, as the wood must be cut now for seasoning. It seasons "as hard as iron and as heavy as lead," and burns longer than stone coal, giving out great heat. In this connection we would call the attention of consumers of wood to the fact that the slower growth Ash and Oak of the highlands of Washington and Yamhill counties, where all our wood is cut, is harder and more economical for use than similar wood from the Columbia river bottoms. We offer NO "COTTONWOOD" for sale.

Premium Carriage Factory
E. SMITH,
CARRIAGE MAKER,
Cor. Jefferson and Front Streets,
PORTLAND, OREGON,
Is now making First-Class EXPRESS WAGONS, BUGGIES and CARRIAGES of all kinds.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

At the Oregon State Fair, recently held at Salem, Mr. E. Smith was awarded the First Premiums on an Open and also on a Top Buggy. The latter was built from a design published in the June number of The Carriage Monthly, styled "Monitor Piano-Box Buggy," and elicited much admiration.—The Philadelphia Carriage Monthly.

Mr. E. SMITH, of Portland, has on exhibition at the State Fair two Buggies, both Open and Top, and certainly exhibit as good workmanship as can be found on the Coast, while several very important Improvements have been added, especially in ironing the same so as not to weaken the axles, by putting the bolts through the same. The commendable enterprise that Mr. Smith has displayed, we understand, is being amply rewarded in our city. He will be awarded the first Premium.—Oregonian.

Mr. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, of Portland, exhibited one Open and one Covered Buggy upon the Fair Grounds, which deserve special mention. These Carriages are especially light and durable, and those in need of such a purchase—and who isn't—should call upon him before purchasing elsewhere. Of course Mr. Smith bore off the blue ribbons.—New Northwest.

Mr. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, corner of Front and Jefferson streets, took two Premiums at the State Fair for First-Class Buggies. This speaks well for his work, and is a credit to Portland.—Pacific Christian Advocate.

HOME MANUFACTURE.—Mr. E. Smith, Carriage Maker, of this city, has some splendid Vehicles on exhibition at the Fair.—Temperance Star.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 17, 1875.

A THIEVISH COON.—Yesterday morning, about 4 o'clock, a gentleman living at the corner of Stark and Sixth streets heard a commotion among his chickens, and thinking that some thief was prowling about, arose hastily, and putting on his trowsers, rushed out in the direction of the roost. It was quite dark, and when the gentleman reached the scene of commotion he could only perceive the fowls fluttering about and hear them cackling, without being able to discover the intruder. So great was the gentleman's haste that he had omitted to put on his boots, but rushed out barefooted. He soon had occasion to repent his haste; for, while he was looking up, and vainly endeavoring to ascertain the cause of all the trouble, he felt a very sharp pain at one of his feet as if some animal had bitten him. He leaped up, and uttering a terrific yell, started to retreat into the house. Two of his sons, hearing the noise among the chickens had arisen, and, with a light, were coming to see what the trouble was. On the porch they met their father, who was retreating in good order and declaring that a cat, dog, or some other animal had bitten him. Search was made, and the occasion of all the trouble was soon found in the person of a coon, which had escaped from its owner, and, having a "chicken tooth," went for the first hen-roost. When the animal was disturbed by the entrance of the proprietor, it took sweet revenge by biting him severely on the foot. A stout cudgel soon dispatched the coon, when it was discovered that it had already killed and partially devoured one chicken.

IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT.—To-day our Irish citizens will unite in the proper observance of the recurring anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, by parade, music, oration and other appropriate exercises. At 9 o'clock this forenoon High Mass will be celebrated and the usual discourse delivered by Rev. J. F. Fierens. At 10:30 A. M., the procession will form on Stark street, right resting on First, in the following order:—Grand Marshal, East Portland Band, Emmet Guard, Washington Guard, City Rifles, Portland Light Battery, President and Orator of the Day, clergymen, invited guests, Vancouver Hibernian Benevolent Society. The following line of march will be observed: Up First to Yamhill, down Yamhill to Front, down Front to A, up A to First, up First to Pine, up Pine to Third, up Third to Columbia, up Columbia to Fourth to the Sisters' Academy where musical exercises will be performed, at the conclusion of which the procession will countermarch down Fourth street to the court house, where the oration will be delivered by Mr. James O'Meara, and the procession disband. The Emmet Guard will then escort the societies and military companies to their respective halls.

NUMBER OF BOATS.—Within the past few days the O. S. N. Co. have added materially to the number of their boats. Only a few days since we made mention of the purchase of the steamer Onward by that company, and now we understand, on good authority, that the same company have bought the steamers Otter and Teazer, formerly used in the transportation of the mails between here and the Dalles. At present the O. S. N. Company own and control more boats than all the other companies combined. The following are the names of the boats owned by the company: Emma Hayward, Oneonta, Dixie Thompson, Annie Stewart, Welcome, Daisy Ainsworth, Idaho, Owyhee, Tenino, Yakima, Celilo, Rescue, Vancouver, Josie McNear, Onward, Otter, Teazer, Bonita, besides the two new steamers, the keels of which have both been laid. In addition, the company own the two large lightering barges—Nez Perces Chief and Columbia.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Tony Benton, the well known comic Irish balladist was arrested yesterday on complaint of Officer Haine, on a charge of stealing a pair of trowsers. Some days ago it seems that Haine missed a pair of pants from his room at the hotel. He could discover no trace of the missing article, until yesterday when he saw them on a certain barkeeper. Haine asked him where he had obtained the pants when the barkeeper stated that he had purchased them from Tony Benton. This individual on being interrogated said he had bought the trowsers from some person whose name he had forgotten, and who had left the city. Deeming the explanation "very thin," Haine preferred a charge of larceny against Benton. In default of bonds the defendant was committed to jail. An examination of the case will be had in police court this morning.

A LARGE LOT.—Messrs. Reid & Vestal inform us that they have put up in their new building, near the car stables, 80,000 pounds of sugar-cured hams, bacon and shoulders. They are rushing things, evidently, and no doubt the return for their labors will come in very soon. The hogs were all Oregon bred. You can depend on that; and healthy ones they were, too.

The principal work to make the affair complete is the stage properties. Mr. R. C. White and Mr. Earl have this part of the labor to perform and are busy at work. The theater will be opened no doubt on Monday evening.

SOCIABLE.—The ladies will give a sociable for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening, March 17th, in the vestry-room, which will also be open from 1 o'clock till 4, between which hours persons contributing or wishing to purchase will find the room open.

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino theater was very well patronized last evening in view of the fact that the play presented was produced a year ago, and that other dramas have been enacted by amateur talent frequently within the past few months. The public have had a surfeit of amateur theatricals, and it is not surprising that the attendance is gradually growing smaller on each occasion. Canby and Baker Post, under whose auspices the "Color Guard" was produced last evening, are striving to raise a fund to pay off the expenses that may be incurred on the approaching Memorial day, and to this end they have brought out the drama which proved quite a success last year. Their intention was to give some entertainment and at the same time derive profit, which is a laudable mode of raising a fund. The piece was hastily prepared and upon its presentation last night many of those taking part were found to be quite unprepared at certain points to say their lines, and the stage working in some instances was quite defective.

The places of many who took a part on a previous occasion were acceptably filled. The professional services of Mrs. Robert Fulford and Mr. Sam Dennis were found necessary at the last moment to fill the important characters of Lucy Johnson and Tom Flynn. Mr. R. C. White lent valuable assistance in directing affairs on the stage. Taking all things into consideration, the drama was placed on the boards much better than even those participating, and others immediately interested, least expected. The defects will undoubtedly be remedied to-night, when the "Color Guard" will be presented for the last time. The house should be crowded, as the object for which the G. A. O. P. H. SOCIETY.

ADJOURNED MEETING OF THE OREGON PIONEER HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Forenoon Session.

Pursuant to adjournment and notice duly given by Hon. A. J. Dufur, the Historical and Pioneer Society met yesterday at 10 o'clock, at Good Templars Hall in this city. Mr. T. P. Powers, the President, in the chair.

On motion, Mr. Samuel A. Clarke was chosen Secretary pro tem.

Rev. Dr. George H. Atkinson offered a prayer.

The minutes of the last regular meeting of the Society were read and approved.

By common permission the rules and regulations were suspended so as to permit a general talk.

A few brief remarks were made by Mr. Holman.

Mr. Dufur then proceeded to call attention to the importance of having the history and statistics of our State fully compiled and prepared for representation at the Centennial of our nation, to be held at Philadelphia in the year 1876.

At the conclusion of his remarks he called upon Rev. George H. Atkinson to present a preamble and resolutions prepared by him on that subject.

The following were then read and offered by Dr. Atkinson:

WHEREAS, The National Centennial Commission have appointed a standing committee (No. 10) on history, literature and popular education; and

WHEREAS, That commission have assigned to Department VII. "Apparatus and Methods for the Increase and Diffusion of Knowledge;" and to Group 70—Educational apparatus and methods.

To Department X.—Systems, objects and apparatus, illustrating efforts for the improvement of the physical, intellectual and moral condition of man.

Group 100—Physical development and condition.

Group 102—Benevolence.

Group 104—Religious organizations and systems.

Group 105—Education.

Group 106—Institutions, societies and organizations, having for their object the promotion of science;

Resolved, That those persons who represent any of these subjects in Oregon, as educators, publishers, religious teachers or officers, authors or writers for journals, historians, or any who are in possession of facts upon any or all these topics, which may help to unfold and illustrate the educational, religious or popular history and condition of Oregon at the Centennial in 1876, be requested to furnish such facts to the committee appointed by the Oregon Centennial Commission, in order that the same may be compiled for the use of the National Commission at Philadelphia.

Resolved, That the papers of Oregon be requested to publish these resolutions, in order to enlist correspondents and contributors of the desired information.

After a long and liberal discussion of the foregoing preamble and resolution by the members of the society they were adopted.

Dr. Atkinson asked leave to make some suggestions as to how our products and all things representing Oregon can best be taken to the Centennial. He favored the loading of a ship with timber, spars, etc., reserving room for the timber to represent our forest, and for all articles to be exhibited. This vessel was to sail around Cape Horn and unload its cargo at Philadelphia. The speaker made an argument to show that this would be the cheapest and most reliable way to insure the needed transportation.

On motion the society adjourned until 2 o'clock P. M.

Afternoon Session.

Called to order at the hour designated by the President.

Mr. W. H. Gray, from the Committee on the Whitman Monument, submitted a lengthy report in relation to the same.

From the report it appears that the sum of $387 30 has been subscribed towards the erection of a suitable monument to be placed over the remains of Dr. Marcus Whitman, his wife and associate martyrs. Of this sum only $133 80 has been paid.

The monument which the society propose to cause to be erected will be at a cost of not less than $5,000.

On motion the report of Mr. Gray was adopted.

Mr. Gray then presented a report from the secretary relating to the nativity of the subscribing members of the society, which was ordered to be re-compiled and made to include all members and families to the present time, and publish with the rest of the proceedings.

The society then adjourned to meet at 7:30 o'clock P. M., to listen to addresses from Dr. Lindsley and others.

EVENING EXERCISES.

In the evening a large audience was present to hear addresses appropriate to the occasion from Dr. Lindsley and others. At the close of the interesting and profitable exercises, the society adjourned to meet at Astoria, subject to the call of the president.

MILITARY NOTES.

The quartermaster's department will furnish the necessary transportation.

Capt. Joseph B. Campbell, 4th Artillery, having completed the duty on which he was ordered to this city by instructions of the 10th ult., will return, via Tacoma, to and resume command of the military post of Sitka, Alaska.

The public exigencies requiring the immediate delivery of the article, the chief commissary of subsistence is authorized to purchase in open market, at lowest obtainable rates, 2,040 pounds potatoes for shipment to Fort Stevens, Oregon.

At the request of the commanding officer, 21st Infantry, Private Albert Drescher, Company F, 21st Infantry, now at Fort Klamath, will report for duty at regimental headquarters, Fort Vancouver, with a view to his transfer to the regimental band.

The public exigencies requiring the immediate delivery of the articles, the chief commissary of subsistence is authorized to purchase in open market, at lowest obtainable rates, 4,900 pounds potatoes and 75 pounds onions, for shipment to the post of Sitka, Alaska.

Musician Charles Hovey and Sergeant Edward Maguican, Company C, 21st Infantry, having reported sick at Fort Vancouver while on furlough respectively on the 15th and 24th ultimos, their retention at that post for medical treatment from the above dates is authorized, and until they return to duty.

Capt. Joseph B. Campbell, 4th Artillery, is appointed to act as inspector on certain quartermaster's stores, and camp and garrison equipage, at Sitka, Alaska, for which First Lieut. Wm. R. Quinan, 4th Artillery, post quartermaster, is responsible, reported the 12th ult. as requiring the action of an inspector.

So much of the term of imprisonment of John Hagan, general prisoner, Fort Canby, Cape Hancock, W. T.—awarded by general orders No. 10, June 2, series of 1874, which imposed confinement at hard labor for one year—as remains unexpired the 29th inst., on the recommendation of his commanding officer for good conduct while undergoing sentence, is remitted.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

A regular meeting of the board of trustees of East Portland was held at the chamber on Monday evening. All the members of the board were present except Stephens.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The committee on streets and public property submitted a report in relation to the Fitch bridge. The committee reported that they had examined the bridge in question, and found that repairs to the same were necessary. They estimated that the cost of repairing the structure would not exceed the sum of $200, and recommended that the same be made. Report and recommendation adopted.

A report was received from the same committee in regard to the condition of 12th-street bridge, which had been reported to be unsafe for travel. The committee reported that they found the bridge in a dangerous condition, and had caused it to be closed against travel. They recommended the construction of a new bridge, at a cost of $550 to $600. Report adopted.

The same committee recommended that the street commissioner be directed to put up a railing on the north side of the base line road, between 12th and 16th streets. Recommendation adopted.

The committee on accounts and current expenses, to whom was referred the claim of Kelly & Robinson, reported favorably to the payment of the same. Report adopted and warrant ordered drawn.

The following claims were ordered paid: Haines & Kerns, $25; W. S. Gordon, $15; L. Phillips, $6; P. Kelly, $5; Kelly & Robinson, $3.

An ordinance in relation to the construction of wharves, was read twice, and on motion referred to the committee on landings and wharves.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the city surveyor be and is hereby instructed to prepare plans and specifications for a bridge on 12th street, and report the same to the committee on streets and public property, and the said committee are hereby authorized to advertise for proposals and contract for the construction of said bridge to the lowest responsible bidder.

On motion the board adjourned.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

THREE LITTLE BROTHERS PEDDLING BASKETS DIE OF COLD IN THE ROAD—PARENTAL CRUELTY.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Feb. 20.—The particulars of a sad case of death by freezing have been received in this place from the town of Exeter during the intensely cold weather that prevailed here all this week. The victims were three boys, named Patrick, Martin and Michael O'Brien, the first aged eight, the second ten and the third eleven years. They were brothers, living with their parents at Exeter. The father and mother are lazy and dissipated people, and live on the fruits of the labor of their children, who were seven in number. The four oldest made baskets, and the three others just named traveled on foot about the country selling them.

On Tuesday last the thermometer in the town of Exeter marked twenty-five degrees below zero. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien told their three little children that they must start out with a lot of baskets. The boys begged to be allowed to wait until the weather moderated. They were poorly clad and were barely able to keep warm in the miserable house in which the family lived.

The brutal parents forced them with threats and beatings, however, to go out with the baskets. They started in the direction of Westville, some miles distant, over a bleak and desolate road, hilly, and in some places badly drifted. Each boy had a number of baskets tied to him reaching above his head. When last seen alive by any of the family they were struggling up the hill away from the house, two of them weeping bitterly. They never reached Westville. Yesterday morning a gentleman who was driving from Westville over the Exeter road saw the bodies of three children lying in the road. Each had a number of baskets tied around his body, and the largest of the three had his arms around the neck of the smallest. It needed but a glance to enable gentleman to see that the boys were dead, and had doubtless been frozen to death. There were frozen traces of tears on the cheeks of each one. The bodies were taken to Westville, where they were recognized as those of the three little basket peddlers who were well known throughout the section. They were taken home, and when it was learned that the little fellows had been driven out in the cold to sell their baskets, the popular indignation was intense against the parents. If there is any legal punishment it will be invoked on the unnatural father and mother.—Cor. N. Y. Herald.

A HORSE STORY.—A stable-keeper in Rochester has a hack-horse, of which the following stories are told: At the end of the stable is a water-faucet, under which has been placed a large tub for the horses to drink from. When the animal is thirsty he scorns the use of the tub, but turns on the faucet with his teeth and holds his head under the running stream until his thirst is quenched, then turns the faucet off again, and with a knowing look at his observers, trots back to his stall. During the present spell of cold weather the water has been allowed to run to prevent it freezing in the pipes. One evening, when the men were elsewhere engaged, he went for a drink in his usual manner, and after he got through turned the faucet off. The consequence was the pipes got frozen up and had to be thawed out before the horse could quench his thirst in his accustomed manner. Affidavits in support of these statements most people will regard as necessary.

More than 6,000,000
Of One Number Alone of the Justly
Celebrated
SPENCERIAN
Double-Elastic
STEEL PENS

Were sold in 1874—being a gain of more than 1,000,000 over the year previous; this, with the marked increase in the sales of the other numbers, shows that the superior qualities of these Pens are being more and more appreciated, and they are destined to take their place as the most popular Steel Pens in the market. They are made of the best steel, by the most skillful workmen in Europe, and are a nearer approximation to the real Swan Quill action than anything of the kind hitherto invented.

The Spencerian Steel Pens are universally used in the Commercial Colleges throughout the U. S., more largely than any others by the United States Government, and quite generally in the Banks, Counting Houses and Schools of the country; and are for sale by the trade generally.

We claim for the Spencerian, superiority over all other pens in durability, elasticity, flexibility, and in evenness of point.

* The Spencerian Pens are comprised* in 15 numbers, varying in flexibility and fineness of point, and, for the convenience of those who may wish to try them, we will send a card containing a sample of each number by mail, securely enclosed, on receipt of 25 cents.

LAND COMPANY.
San Francisco Bay, Alameda Co., California.
Title Perfect. Incorporated.
THE NEWARK LAND COMPANY IS NOW ASSUMING shape; the Guarantee Fund paid in. This Company will be prepared in March to take 3,000 people by steamboat and railroad to their town and lands in one excursion, which will be advertised. By reference to the Coast Survey Chart it will be seen that at Potrero Point, in front of Newark, the deep water comes all the way through the channel from the Pacific, with the C. P. R. R., running in a direct line through Livermore Pass, making this the connecting point between all parts of the United States and by deep water to all parts of the globe and the greatest manufacturing point on the Bay of San Francisco—plenty of water, good climate, excellent soil and easy communication. This land will be sold at auction in April in acres and lots. This company will commence active operation in building etc. soon. For all information, circulars, maps and subscription, apply at the office of the Company, 405½ California street, basement, opposite Bank of California, San Francisco.

JOHN GILPIN OUTDONE.

HOW ANDY JOHNSON SAVED A VOTE—A WILD RIDE FOR THE STATE-HOUSE.

[From the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner]

During the late balloting for the election of United States Senator, which resulted in the choice of Mr Johnson, a little incident occurred, ludicrous enough in its nature to admit of its reproduction.

One of the members of the House had on the Monday pending the day on which Mr Johnson was elected changed his vote in favor of Mr Johnson, and, on that same evening, had gone home to rest secure for the night in the bosom of his dear family, and take on more hog and hominy until Johnson had bone. His mind was made up to stick to Mr Johnson as long as the everlasting cedars of Lebanon themselves should stand, and it so happened that no one was better advised of this fact than a certain shrewd railroad conductor, who had charge of the train which was to bring the honorable Solon back to the Capitol in time to vote on the opening ballot of Tuesday. This same railroad man was opposed to Mr Johnson, and since the change had taken place in the mind of our Representative, our railroader's mind began to wonder whether it would not be necessary for his train to leave for Nashville a little earlier than usual. Well, morning came. The aforesaid railroader had spent a restless night, as his mind had been burdened with the weight of a temporary change of schedule.

On the other hand the honorable Solon had risen early and stood about the depot ere yet the fires in the depot stoves had been kindled, he stood on one foot, and shivered like a Democratic rooster in a henless barn-yard. Looking at his watch, he discovered that it was a half hour still before time for the train to start. Suddenly, the railroader bustled in and was just about to cry out "all aboard," when his anti-Johnson optic fell on the unlooked for and altogether unhoped for presence of the Johnson member, and, thereupon, it was determined that the contemplated temporary change of schedule should not occur on that morning. On the contrary, something else should be done and done quickly. Not long was a new plan in being perfected.

A second party was initiated who was known to be an ardent advocate of a law for the protection of such birds as quails, pheasants, etc, and who was also known, by the way, to be opposed to Mr Johnson. This worthy constituent invited the Solon to step to one side with him, that he might warm the blood in his honorable veins with a kindling charity for the defenseless birds of the land. Already had the Solon's heart been touched so far that he had promised to have the protecting arm of the State of Tennessee lifted high and far over his country in order that the ruthless huntsman might not invade the haunts of the gregarious quail and pheasant in the love making season of the year. Having enlisted his energies in behalf of the quail and pheasant, he was proceeding to amend the Solon's heart in behalf of woodpeckers, grouse, and other game, when, lo! a brief rumbling was heard, and stepping from behind the depot, they beheld the train for Nashville moving out promptly on its way. The Solon yelled and attracted the attention of the railroader, who seemed to think that Solon was only wishing to say good-by, and so he made a very courteous and profound bow, and gave the signal to the engineer to quicken up. Wide open went the throttle-valve, on whirled the train, and Solon—where, oh where was he? There he stood, some thirty miles from the halls where he was so anxious to hear his voice send out the name of the Commoner. The train had fled with never a word of warning. Our anti-Johnson manager had approached the engineer at an unguarded moment in the life of the engineer, and this is about the language which was used to the engineer:

"Look here, don't you see Mrs. Tiller's mare yonder? She is awful scarey—monstrous 'fraid of an engine, and I am afraid she'll throw that poor old creature and hurt her when we go to start." (Mrs. Tiller was sitting on the mare that she had ridden for twenty-five years.) "Now," continued the conductor to the engineer, "I want you to steal out for the first fifty yards without making any noise, and then I want you to let her go like h—ll, so that that fiery young animal won't know where the noise comes from. I won't call but 'all aboard' this morning."

We have seen how the plan worked so far as leaving the Legislator. He tore his venerable hair for a moment, and then tore away from the depot for a livery stable, to see if he could make it by a horse. The livery-stable man took in the situation very speedily, and told him he might have his best horse and kill him if necessary. On he went on the now flying Bucephalus. Every time he rose on his saddle he gave him the spur, and when he lowered his mount he gave the steed the whip. The ride of John Gilpin was an absolute failure compared to this. Women and children flocked to the doors along the route, and the heels of the horseman's gallant gray dashed over the stony pike. Swifter than the east wind and wilder than a tempest, on and on he dashed.

In vain did an aged matron, with tears in her eyes (from the wind which he raised in his flight) plead with him to know if there was any trouble in his family. He spoke not a word. No "banner with the strange device," moved above his stream of legislative locks, but "excelsior" was written on that rigid and turbid brow. He was bent on making the best time ever made. On and on he sped. His palfrey had gone some ten miles, when as though he had outrun the very wind, there was none of it left in his body. Our gallant knight would know no word outside of the bright lexicon of youth and chivalry, so "failure" was speedily put away to his back again. He took forcible possession of the first horse he met, and mounting vi et armis, on he dashed, laughing in his success at the shouts of "robber" and "horse thief," which fell on his departing ears. He telegraphed, before mounting at first, the following words:

"I am coming, Uncle Andy, send it as by pike." Getting within eight miles of town he was met by a swift-footed trotting nag already in harness and champing the bit. Into the buggy he jumped from his foaming steed, and reached Nashville in time for the first roll.

The railroad man was up in the gallery. He had gone there to hear, with his own good ears, the roll call. A mild smile lit up his features as the call proceeded through the Senate. The smile broadened into a benignant grin as Neil Brown began the roll of the House. Presently the name of the left legislator was reached. "Johnson," he sung out in remarkably clear notes and—they say the railroad man never did tell the gentleman who was sitting next to him what he was laughing at the moment before.

A log of wood containing a bottle has just been picked up at Havre. It was one of several thrown overboard from the [illegible] in its Arctic expedition, to test the force of current. The writing it contained was perfectly legible, although the log had been drifting since 1860.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS.—Little Rock, March 8.—The governor has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, March 26, as a day of thanksgiving for the many blessings showered upon the State during the past year. Special mention is made of the adoption of the Poland resolution by Congress.

The latest telegraphic quotation [illegible] Liverpool wheat market are of the [illegible] and give the prevailing price at [illegible] for average California and [illegible] for [illegible]. [illegible] duced by the backwardness of the [illegible].

Our exchanges from the [illegible] the attention of the officers of the [illegible] to the fact that the [illegible] laws which authorize the loans that now constitute the national debt that both incorporated provision that one per cent of each loan should be annually be set apart as a sinking fund for its redemption. This was a very small sum to set aside for such a purpose but under the circumstances it was thought best not to undertake to pay off the debt at any faster rate. Small as it was however it seems never to have been fully met. There has been no effort under the present administration to raise the funds necessary to pay it and so keep faith with the public creditors but it appears that the obligation has never yet been redeemed as it should have been.

The amount due to the sinking fund from this source from 1862 to 1875 is $417 000 000 and the amount actually paid in to it is only $141 000 000 while all the bonds redeemed within that period from other sources than the sinking fund if they are to be added to bring the total up only to $323 200 000 or $31 200 000 short of the amount actually due. The sinking fund itself counting only what has been paid into it in compliance with law is $[illegible] short but it is claimed that the actual reduction of the debt by any means whatever is a virtual compliance with the sinking fund requirement. Admitting this for the argument's sake the deficit is still upon the verge of a hundred millions.

In the condition of our local monetary matters there are few events transpiring commonly upon which would be of general interest. As the spring comes on apace the demand for loanable funds is gradually increasing in the number of applicants for accommodations and the objects for which monetary aid is sought but as yet improvements and manufacturing interests move more slowly than is encouraging. However we may now be considered as just about on the turning point between the winter and spring and a few weeks may work very important results and give the commercial and industrial interests of our State a new impetus.

Miscellaneous

The tax on whisky under the new revenue law is fixed at 90c per gallon and on tobacco at 24c per lb. The tax on cigars is increased from $5 to $6 per M and 25 per cent has been added to the duty on each and every grade of sugar molasses and concentrated juice of sugar cane. Bolting cloth made of silk is put on the free list and pass books in savings banks which the commissioner of internal revenue declared subject to stamps are exempt.

The tonnage market in San Francisco continues in a greatly depressed condition the rates quoted at latest advices by mail being £2 [illegible]. Many vessels are leaving that port in ballast going to China, Australia and South America some of them to return to that port others to proceed thence to Europe.

San Francisco papers which are quick to find fault with Oregon products say that recent receipts of Oregon apples in that market are a little touched with frost. An apple touched with frost before shipment from here would be a great deal touched before reaching that market.

The reported failure of a well known retail grocery firm in our city caused a small ripple in commercial circles to-day. The liabilities of the firm are reported at $16 000. Assets not given.

The wool market in San Francisco is beginning to show a little more life. The first of the spring clip—30 bales from Fresno—arrived. The quality is considered good. It was sold at rates kept private for shipment East. The quality of the coming clip is said to be much superior to that of last spring on account of the good pasture and fine weather of the winter. Nearly all the Northern wool in the market has been shipped East by rail. The Oregon market is not yet opened for the season.

Speaking of the San Francisco markets the last issue of the Rural Press says: Since our last the wheat market has become firmer while barley oats corn and rye have declined. The rain that ensures the next harvest almost beyond doubt has caused the decline. Wheat has not participated in it because holders have not been willing to sell at last week's figure thinking them too low, and feeling somewhat strengthened by the firmness of the Liverpool market. So marked has been the unwillingness referred to that there have been few or no sales of wheat at the Produce Exchange during the past week. Navigation on the Columbia has again opened and Oregon has within the last two weeks sent large consignments of flour and oats to this market. We have also received several consignments from Washington Territory, the fertile soil of which is beginning to be turned to some account by its settlers.

The Rural Press of San Francisco predicts that grain freights from this coast to Europe will make a sharp advance after harvest as many ships have been diverted from the coast by low freights last season and as the crop of wheat especially in California promises to be very large.

Shipping Intelligence

The steamship Idaho will be due from San Francisco on Friday.

Ordinance No. 1603.

AN ORDINANCE TRANSFERRING A PORTION of the tax levied by Ordinance No 15[illegible] entitled "An Ordinance levying a tax for General Municipal Purposes" to certain Special Funds.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. In order that the accounts of expenditures for Municipal purposes may be classified and kept under their appropriate heads and that such expenditures be as nearly as practicable limited to the several objects and amounts heretofore estimated, a portion of the tax levied by Ordinance No 1[illegible], entitled "An Ordinance levying a tax for General Municipal purposes" is hereby transferred and set apart to the certain special funds in the Treasury as follows:

To the Fund for Interest on Bonds fifteen per cent; to the Street Fund thirty one per cent; and to the Police Fund twenty four per cent.

Such transfer to be made from time to time as the tax is collected.

Passed the Common Council February 17 1875.

W S CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved February 19 1875.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ or organs whose action they derange and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr A A Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye,

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, COR COMMERCIAL,

San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc., Diseases of the Skin, Old Sores and Ulcerated Legs cured.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice in his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may [illegible].

The Doctor has spared no [illegible] seeking out new remedies [illegible] increased facilities for the [illegible] suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at the pallid emaciated and dis[illegible] broken-down constitutions, disqualifying [illegible] the happiness of marriage [illegible]. In this horrid situation thousands suffer [illegible] closes the scene. Let parents [illegible] tend to those who are [illegible] horrible life-destroying [illegible] cared for and cured before [illegible]. Immediately to DR. GIBBON [illegible] made private diseases his [illegible] study and who is certain to cure [illegible] without mercury or any [illegible]. Important to those who are [illegible] are interested in the welfare [illegible] careful of the many pretended [illegible] all cities publishing their skill in curing [illegible] in a few days imposing upon the public [illegible] the names of eminent physicians from [illegible] other places. Be therefore careful and [illegible] inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved [illegible] practiced by the youth of both sexes to an unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and blotches about the face, furred tongue, fœtid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will forfeit Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible].

Married Men

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility [illegible] resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate [illegible].

DR. GIBBON is responsible [illegible] and will give each patient a written instrument [illegible] binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure, or no charge.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco [illegible] pretenders who with bogus [illegible] entice the unwary. Some of these [illegible] styled [illegible] names are to be found in the daily newspapers of San Francisco [illegible] other tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible] carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry; it will cost you nothing and may save you much trouble, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting [illegible] titles, certificates, pretended patients [illegible]. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons [illegible] office of his ability to treat diseases and to cure.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the post office or through Wells, Fargo & Co, a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Address DR J F GIBBON, Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Box 1[illegible].

REMEMBER TO PUT [illegible] TER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the OREGONIAN.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

St Patrick's Day Universally Celebrated

NEW YORK, March 17.—The celebration of St Patrick's day is universal. The procession of various societies numbers, it is estimated, fully 20 000. Mansions and walks along the route are crowded. Dispatches from the chief cities and towns of the Middle, Eastern and Southern States report the day generally celebrated.

CHICAGO, March 17.—St. Patrick's day is celebrated in the usual manner. Procession numbers ten thousand.

Terrible Flood in Port Jervis.

PORT JERVIS, N Y, March 17.—At 6 o'clock this morning the large shop whistle warned the people that the flood was rising with fearful rapidity. The telegraph had previously announced that the ice had swept through every barrier above and was coming down upon the city riding upon crests of waves ten feet high.

Seven o'clock A M.—The water is rising rapidly and King street is inundated. A large charge of nitro-glycerine was exploded which did great execution to the ice damming up the head of the gorge. The Delaware Railroad bridge, three miles west, has been swept away. The flood is coming with inconceivable force and the inhabitants are fleeing in confusion from the flats.

Eight o'clock.—The gorge remains firm, but the volume of water has made a river of King street, carrying all before it and submerging a great part of the lower portion of the town. The flood is now within 100 yards of the telegraph office.

8 45 A M.—A great shout of thankfulness has just gone up. The gorge has broken and the ice is floating down the stream while the water in the village is lowering. The Barrett bridge is standing though badly damaged. Probably thirty blocks were inundated, and some houses carried off. As far as heard from no lives lost. The wrecks of two bridges being carried a great way down stream, a suspension bridge 5 miles below is felt to be doomed. About 300 houses in Port Jervis proper, between the railway and the river were more or less damaged by the water, many of them filled to the second story. All the large shops of the Erie railroad had more or less water in them, but no damage done.

PORT JERVIS, March 17—1 P M.—The scene at Germantown in the lower part of this city, beggars description. Ice is piled on shore in many places thirty feet high and some pieces weighing 30 tons. About 200 houses are filled with water to the second story. It is reported that one man was killed. Four of the five spans in all 66 feet of the Delaware railroad bridge are gone. The debris of the railroad and Barrett bridges caught fast on Van May's Island three miles below, thus saving the tower of the suspension bridge. Damage to the Barrett bridge is about $5 000 and other losses in the village about $50 000. The river is now going down and danger is over. About 25 small frame buildings nearest the river in Port Jervis are totally wrecked.

Destruction of Bridges and other Property at Pittston.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A dispatch from Pittston, Pa, states that all but the east span of the magnificent new bridge across the Susquehanna there was swept away early this morning, and the old bridge a quarter of a mile above followed soon after. The Lackawanna bridge had previously gone down. The loss in bridge property alone is not less than half a million dollars. The flood is making terrible inroads on valuable property in West Pittston, having already covered the lower portion of the place, and the loss is considerable.

Died while on His way to Visit His Daughter.

NEW YORK, March 17.—John B Dickinson, banker, who died suddenly yesterday at Chicago, was on his way to San Francisco to visit his daughter, Mrs. Sherwood.

Fire at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, March 14.—A fire this morning burned a number of stores. Loss $130,000; insurance about $48,000.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, March 17.—A fair business has been done in wool, but the prices remain without improvement and fine wools can only be sold at low and unsatisfactory figures. Choice Pennsylvania and Ohio fleeces, that generally range from 8@10c ℔ lb above all other grades, are not now so valuable as a low X or medium grade. While the latter are in demand the former can only be forced off at a concession. The supply of wool on hand and firmness of the foreign markets would scarcely warrant this state of things and there is likely to be a reaction before the new clip is received. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania, including X X and medium grades have been at 55@60c; Michigan 49@52½c; combing and Delaine fleeces, 56c for washed, and 45@50 for unwashed. There is a scarcity of choice lines of superior and X pulled, and sales are readily made at 50@55c and small lots of choice Maine and Eastern superiors at 55@58c. California wool is in fair demand at unchanged prices.

License instead of Local Option.

HARRISBURG, Pa, March 17.—The local option repeal bill with license law attached, after being amended by the conference committee passed both houses to-day.

Suspension of a Firm of Brokers.

BOSTON, March 17.—The Traveller reports that Beck Bros, stock brokers, have suspended. An examination of their books is in progress. James Beck, the senior partner, died at his residence Monday from an overdose of chloroform taken to relieve pain.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Pinchback Postponed—He is to be Kept for a Check on a "Worse Man."

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The postponement of Pinchback's case was a sudden movement of his friends determined upon after a careful canvass showing his certain rejection on a direct vote. Their reasoning is that the Wheeler committee's arbitration may result in such a change in the Louisiana Legislature as will cause the election of somebody as Senator more objectionable than Pinchback, and that in such a case the latter may be admitted in order to exclude the other. This anticipation necessarily presumes that the Republican opposition is on expediency, not principle. All the Republicans opposed to Pinchback voted to postpone except Christiancy and Hitchcock, who voted no. Edmunds was silent. The tendency of the present situation is to promote Casey's election to the Senate by the aid of Conservatives who are against Pinchback irrevocably and who fear the choice of a Conservative would seat Pinchback.

The Postal Blunder Again.

Jewell says it is impracticable to enforce the modified postage on transient printed matter, as thousands of tons were in the mail before the change of the law was discovered. Meantime care should be taken to inform the public that newspapers except when prepaid regularly by the office of publication is one cent per ounce.

The Situation in Louisiana.

While nothing official is ascertainable the Wheeler compromise forwarded to Kellogg, New Orleans yesterday is believed to seat one additional Conservative state senator and give the Conservatives twelve majority in the lower House which will tie the legislature on joint ballot on any party vote. If the compromise be accepted many think Speaker Hahn will vote for a Conservative sooner than for Carey or anybody else not considered a bona fide citizen of the State. His vote would settle the senatorship.

Black Hills to be Opened

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Secretary Delano has taken steps to bring to Washington delegations of Sioux for the purpose of negotiating for the extinguishment of their right to the Black Hills country.

SENATE—EXTRA SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Immediately after the reading of the journal of yesterday's proceedings the Senate, on motion of Hamlin, went into executive session.

Just after the Senate went into executive session Boutwell submitted the following, which was laid over till to-morrow:

Resolved, That the special committee to examine the several branches of the civil service with a view to the organization of the several departments thereof be authorized to sit during the recess of the Senate, to employ a stenographer, to administer oaths and send for persons and papers.

The resolution was submitted as public business, the doors being considered as constructively open.

The Senate then took up the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty. Morrill of Vermont being entitled to the floor spoke in opposition to ratifying.
